Read for the World Record Scholastic's Summer Challenge

Students unite to read in an attempt to set a new world record for summer reading! The overall record set for 2009 among all schools was 35,846,094 minutes.

This is a summer-long literacy campaign designed to motivate children to read more so they can maintain and improve their academic skills. The total logged reading minutes, along with the top 20 schools, will be published in the 2011 edition of the Scholastic Book of World Records!

Here are a few simple ways to coach your child to become a record-breaking reader:

- Encourage reading throughout the summer with library visits, story time at home and conversations about books. Let your child see you reading.
- Visit the Scholastic Summer Challenge Web site: www.scholastic.com/summer. This is a kid-friendly, safe online community where students can join a record-setting team, log reading minutes, and enjoy activities geared for all ages.

Apple Camp

Apple Camp is a fun summer activity for kids ages 8 to 12. These free workshops at the Apple store allow kids to learn to do cool stuff on the Mac using iLife and iWork applications. They'll make a movie, compose a song, create a photo book, and learn how to present everything to an audience. When Camp is over, they'll bring home a DVD of the projects they make, along with the skills and ideas to create event more.
